Rumor Chinese Use Poison Gas In Jehoi Battle

Heavy Fighting Is Reported
As Japanese Continue
Jehoi Drive

REPORT CASUALTIES
IN BATTLE AT 1600

Major Battle Is Reported
Under Way South Of Jehoi City

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
With unconfirmed rumors in Tokyo that the Chinese defenders were resorting to poison gas, heavy fighting was reported on all fronts in Jehoi Province today.

Approximately 1,000 Chinese and 600 Japanese casualties occurred in a Japanese assault on Lingnan, the gateway to Lingyuan, which met with stiff Chinese resistance.

Apparently balked by this resistance, the Japanese embarked upon more costly tactics and started a push toward Chienping, an important stronghold along the Chinese second line of defense.

A major battle was under way south of Jehoi City, where a Japanese detachment was halted in a narrow pass hedged in by tall cliffs.

Heavy Fighting.
PEIPING, Feb. 27.—With 1,000
Chinese and 600 Japanese casualties reported, heavy fighting was under way today in the interior of Jehoi Province.

Apparently finding themselves balked by stiff Chinese resistance in their assault on Lingnan, the gateway to Lingyuan, the Japanese embarked upon more costly tactics and started to push toward Chienping, an important stronghold along the Chinese second line of defense.

The bulk of the casualties occurred in the vicinity of Peishihsumen, which the Japanese right flank attacked in an attempt to clear the way to Lingnan. Reports at 3 p. m. today stated that the right flank attack had lessened, while the left flank assault was intensified, indicating an attempted drive toward Chienping.

The fall of Chienping would seriously embarrass the Chinese defenses at Chihfeng.

PA NEW OBSERVES

To have lettuce growing in your garden on George Washington's birthday surely beats a record of some kind, or at least that is what W. C. Moore, 112 Mulberry street thinks. Two days after Christmas Mr. Moore planted lettuce seed in his garden, in the open, and he now has nice sized lettuce plants sticking forth their leaves.

Days like today get the golf bugs all agitated. It will only be a matter of a few more weeks now, until they will be out digging holes in the turf and calling it sport.

This is the time of the year when we have spring one day, winter the next, and summer the day following. The weather changed very quickly Saturday evening and a blinding snowstorm swept the city for a few minutes.

New driver's licenses are due for all Pennsylvania drivers on Wednesday. The old driver's licenses expire on the last day of February.

which was performed at the United States embassy in Havana, climaxed a romance which began when the Montana senator met Senora de Truf-

EDUCATORS IN NATIONAL CONVENTION TO APPEAL

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—Between eight and nine thousand public school administrators have left off battling with budget-cutters in their home cities to unite here today in what is in effect a dramatic appeal that the people make common cause with them in saving America's free schools.

Seeing in education the searchlight by which the nation may hope to find a way out of the darkness in which it is groping, the department of superintendence of the National Education association opened its 63rd annual convention in Minneapolis' municipal auditorium today.

Nation-Wide Discussion.
Speeches at the opening session were to analyze the general economic crisis and thus serve to clear the air for later discussion of how remedies proposed to end the general crisis might be applied to the crisis in the schools.

Speakers were Harley L. Lutz, professor of public finance at Princeton university; Howard Scott of "technocracy" fame; Jesse H. Newlon, professor of education and director of Lincoln school, Teachers' college,

Treen, Jr., and his wife Gladys, both 28.
One of Treen's arms encircled his

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Bernard G. McGuire of Lowell, Mass., promoter hired for the Loyal Order of Moose, today pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Alfred G. Cox on the charge of violating the national lottery laws and was sentenced to serve one year and one day in the penitentiary.
McGuire was to go on trial today with U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, director general of the Moose; Raymond Walsh, assistant to McGuire, and Theodore Miller, head of the "propagation department" of the fraternal order; all charged with violation of the national lottery laws.
The trial of the three latter defendants was postponed until March 6.

Concurrent Sentences.
McGuire was recently found guilty on the same charge in connection with raising funds for the Fraternal Order of Eagles with Conrad H.
Mann of Kansas City, its director, and Frank Herring, editor of the Eagles magazine.
McGuire was then sentenced to a year and one day and fined $12,000.
Mann was sentenced to five months and fined $12,000, and Herring was sentenced to four months and fined $4,000.

Federal Judge Cox ruled today that the two sentences of McGuire should run concurrently in Atlanta penitentiary.
He permitted his freedom under bail pending his appeal from both convictions.
Mann and Herring have also appealed their convictions.

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Feb.

example of why there will always be war than we are having right now; 21 nations of the league denounce Japan's Chinese invasion.
Also the U. S., while not a member, also agrees with them.
Now, all in the world they got to do to stop it instantly is to agree to not trade with an aggressor nation, meaning Japan, but they won't sacrifice their trade to save bloodshed.
The league has got the weapon to stop war, but try

(International News Service)
DENVER, Feb. 27.—Heads of Denver luncheon clubs, political parties and veterans' organizations will meet in the offices of Chief of Police A. T. Clark today to complete plans for the most intensive manhunt in the history of Colorado, with Charles the search. Sheriffs of nearby counties are expected to attend the conference.

Chief Clark estimates that approximately 4,000 men will take part in the search in Denver. Cap-

FAR EAST WAR BRIEFS

(International News Service)
JEHOI CITY, Feb. 27.—Five thousand Manchukuo troops under General Yang Pu have deserted and gone over to the side of the Chinese defenders in Jehoi. Governor Tang Yu-Lin declared in an official statement today.

The deserters brought a quantity of valuable equipment and war supplies to the Chinese lines, the statement asserted.

CHINGCHOW, Manchukuo, Feb. 27.—
The Yoneyama battalion of the

BRITISH GOVERNMENT WILL HALT SHIPMENT OF ARMS TO FAR EAST

Announcement Of Embargo
Is Made By Foreign Secretary Today

SEEK ACTION BY UNITED STATES

American State Department
Officials Are Surprised
At Developments

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The British government has decided to lay an embargo on the exportation of arms to both China and Japan, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

The announcement was made in the course of a general debate on the Far Eastern situation and followed a demand by George Lansbury, leader of the labor opo-sition, that such action should be taken.

"The government," said Simon,
"has decided as from today and pending the opportunity for international consultation and decision, that it would not authorize the issue of licenses for export to either China or Japan of any of the articles mentioned in the arms export prohibition order of 1931."

The government had already made known it was in consultation with the United States on the question of an arms embargo while the present conflict continues in the Far East and had declared such a step would be ineffectual unless America joined.

Hence Sir John's announcement was generally interpreted to mean that Washington, too, looked with favor on an embargo.

The foreign secretary reviewed the

Identify Man Killed By Auto

Local Woman Discovers Accident Victim Is Her Uncle, Joseph Foster

PASSED NEPHEW
ALONG HIGHWAY

Identification of the body of the aged man, killed by an automobile while walking along the Wilmington road Friday evening, was made Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Marie Dickson, of East Washington, as that of her uncle, Joseph Foster, aged 77, of Koppel.

Mrs. Dickson had an idea that the man might be her uncle when she read about the account of his death in The News, and went to view the body at the undertaking rooms, believing shocked to find that it was true. She had not seen him since last summer and was unable to account for his being out on the Wilmington road, unless he had gone to visit friends there.

A strange coincidence in connection with the tragedy was that Mr.
Foster had walked past Mr. Dick-son's car, as he was parked along the Wilmington road, repairing one of his lights which was not working.
At the time, he thought that it was Mr. Foster, but was not certain. He had intended picking him up and bringing him into New Castle, but before he caught up with him, he had been struck and killed.

Mr. Foster was single, his only surviving relatives being five nieces and three nephews. They are Mrs.
Dickson and Mrs. Eva Miller of this city, Mrs. W. H. Smiley, of Sharon; Mrs. Heims and Mrs. Charles Ruby, of Baltimore; and Harry, Frank and John Graham of New Castle.
Funeral services will be held from Morrow's undertaking rooms, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, followed by burial in Greenwood cemetery.

Harold Ickes, Chicago lawyer, will be secretary of interior in the new

Each year I resolve to grow bigger and catalogue looking for parsnips of wonderful size, hoping to get me a crop that will blossom into a pos-eternal in amateur gardeners, hope for a champion tater or bean, hope for a turnip that's giant in stature, larger than any that's ever been seen. Each year, I hope but my crop is the same as before, a little

START BATTLE TO NAME GARNER'S SUCCESSOR

Six Candidates Are Considered

Garner To Preside Until March 4 When He Becomes Vice President

RAINEY MAY BE CHOICE FOR POST

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A whirlwind finish drive for the speakership was opened today among House Democrats by candidates for the post with the organization caucus set for Thursday.

With a special session in the offing Democratic leaders in the House were anxious to name their officers for the next session to assure early co-operation with President-elect Roosevelt in drafting a program.

Speaker John N. Garner will wield the gavel until he moves to the Senate at noon on March 4 to become vice president and presiding officer of the Senate.

Six candidates are in the race for speaker, with a half dozen others hoping a fight may result in the selection of a "dark horse" candidate to guide the huge Democratic majority in the next House.

A rapid rise in the fortunes of Representative John McDuffie of Alabama, party whip, was generally admitted as the race entered the closing days. Backers of Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, majority leader, nevertheless claimed he will be chosen on an early ballot.

Other candidates are: Representative Joseph W. Byrnes of Tennessee, John O'Connor of New York, John T. Rankin of Mississippi and Robert Crosser of Ohio.

EDUCATORS FRAME APPEAL

Columbia, and President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin.

Expect Controversy.
Two reports which are expected to excite controversy are to be presented tomorrow. One of these is the report of the emergency committee, which will propose a nation-wide discussion of the crisis in education, with open forums of parents, teachers and the citizenry as a whole.

The other is the report of the committee on lay relations. Consistent in their scientific viewpoint, these school men who now plead for help in perpetuating the school system they have built up have subjected themselves to a microscopic analysis in a survey conducted by the research division of the National Education association.

The survey shows that the earning capacity of these men who hold the key positions in public school education is in no sense commensurate with that of business executives in comparably responsible jobs. Though the average salary of school superintendents responding to the questionnaire sent out by the research division is $4,000, on an average of $500 of that sum must be spent for professional improvements each year, and 28 per cent of the superintendents questioned had spent additional sums for study since 1931. The average sum the men in the group were able to save annually was $838. Seven per cent were able to save less than $200 per year in 1930 and 1931. Expenses of 69 per cent of the group for trips to educational conventions are paid by the boards by which they are employed.

Many Own Homes.
In spite of short term contracts which tend to make nomads of them 39 per cent of the group own their own homes, and 13 per cent are now buying homes.

This four day convention will embrace 86 addresses at the general sessions, 25 additional meetings and 300 group discussion addresses. Over a hundred of Chicago's unpaid teachers and supervisors have some way contrived to be in attendance.

RUMOR CHINESE USE POISON GAS IN JEHOL BATTLE

Chengteh (Jehol City), where a Japanese detachment under Lieut. General Hattori crossed the border.

Jap Troops Drive On.
PEIPING, Feb. 27.—Following up swift, damaging air raids along the entire Chinese defense line, Japanese troops drove toward Chienping today.

Reports from Chienchow stated Japanese forces commanded by Major General Miyake, pushing westward from captured Chaoyang, had unfurled their banners over three more Chinese strongholds.

The Japanese did not have easy going, however, and met determined Chinese resistance.

According to an uncensored message from Manchukuo, Chinese volunteers destroyed an iron bridge in the vicinity of Kouoangze, wrecking a Japanese infantry train and causing "considerable casualties."

The destruction of the bridge temporarily disrupted the railroad bearing the brunt of the Japanese traffic to the front.

This Chinese strategy was countered, however, by heavy Japanese troop movements just north of the great wall designed to create panic at the rear of the Chinese lines.

Bombs Are Dropped.
Governor Tang Yu-Lin reported Japanese planes dropped bombs on Chienping, Chienping and Ling-yuan, signaling a general Japanese march on these points.

While the planes dropped their deadly missiles, infantrymen fought snow and the bullets of Chinese snipers, occupying Chinese settlements 40 miles within the Jehol province border. This group, originally started from Lungiao, mopped up Chinese volunteers as it advanced.

Marching southward from Kailu, another column under General Suzuki reported they had entered Hsaiwa, which would bring them half way from the border to the main Chinese defense at Chienping.

It was believed here of progress should bring them to Chienping in less than three or four days, after which, if this point is occupied, capture of Jehol City (Chengteh), capital of the province, and subjugation of the entire territory, may be accomplished with stunning speed.

To Battle 50,000 Troops.
TOKYO, Feb. 27.—Moving in a bow shaped formation, Japanese forces advanced in the direction of Chienping today to battle 50,000 Chinese troops entrenched to defend the city.

According to unconfirmed rumors, Chinese troops have resorted to poison gas in an attempt to stem the enemy.

A report reached here that the Chinese had blown up a bridge south of Shanhaiwan, presumably to aid in construction of defenses against any possible attack on the Tientsin Peiping area.

Reports of erection of these fortifications led the foreign office to announce it would protest to the Nanjing government if construction of the defenses at Taku and Tientsin continue.

TWO SERIOUS FIRES OCCUR OVER WEEKEND

second alarm, summoning four companies. The fire was already coming out through the roof when the first department arrived, and the entire roof was burned off, the blaze getting down into the rooms on the second floor in several places. This fire, too, was fanned by a heavy wind, and the firemen had a desperate battle on their hands to keep the home from being entirely destroyed.

The loss to the home will be around $2,000 with a loss of approximately $1,000 on the contents, covered by insurance.

At 10:30 Sunday morning, Second ward firemen were called to the home of J. Q. L. Roberts, 115 Park avenue, by a short in the radio. Damage was averted by disconnecting the wire.

At 9:55 this morning, B. truck and No. 2 department were called to the Brindley home, North Jefferson street, where there was a small fire in rubbish which had been thrown on the rear porch roof from the fire of last week. It is believed someone dropped a cigarette in the rubbish. There was no damage.

Congress Enters Its Final Week

Seventy Second Session To Be Concluded Before March 4

MANY MEASURES TO BE DISPOSED OF

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The dying seventy-second Congress entered its final week today with leaders hoping to complete the necessary appropriation bills, provide federal aid for the unemployed, relieve mortgaged farmers, and perhaps, legalize beer before March 4. The old Congress, if it does not more, will have an impressive legislative record.

In two sessions it approved the war debt moratorium, created the Federal Reconstruction Finance Corporation, expanded activities of the Federal Farm Board, created federal home loan banks, liberalized the Federal Reserve system, granted Philippine independence and proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

It failed to balance the budget. Hopes of liberals for modification of the Volstead act rested with the Senate, since the House legalized beer early in December. Democratic leaders were eager to pass it, even though Republicans reported President Hoover ready to kill it by a pocket veto.

Three Major Bills
Three major bills, aside from the bankruptcy act, were awaiting final action in either House or Senate. The House had the Wagner bill, authorizing the R. F. C. to lend $300,000,000 to the states for direct relief of the unemployed, and authorizing loans for useful projects to states or cities, without the hated "self-liquidating condition" of the present law. Its passage was expected before adjournment.

The House was expected too to pass the Steagall bill, granting a 5-year moratorium on all loans of the farm land or joint stock land banks. In the Senate, the Robinson bill, setting aside $500,000,000 for R. F. C. loans to save the mortgaged lands of farmers, was pending, both measures require approval by both branches.

Hundreds of bills will die in the legislative jam of the session's closing hours. Some important measures will be included in this lot, but the most important will be revived in a few weeks at the special session of the new Congress.

SUTTON FINDS CHINESE READY TO GIVE LIVES

on Lingyuan's strong defense lines.

It was on Sunday morning that I sat down with Tang Yu Lin, old time frontier cavalryman and commander of the Jehol defenses, and heard him talk freely as an old comrade in arms.

He's thickset and sturdy, and although over 60 years of age, is full of energy. Tang was brought up in the same rough school of frontier soldiering as old Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, and he struck me as an ideal commander for skirmishing and mountain fighting.

Studies Map
With a war map spread out before him on a fine old Chien-Lung table, the old general broke out one of his long fingernails in his eagerness to show how counter attacks and flank attacks would imperil the Japanese advance.

"I had only one brigade fighting the last four days and nights at Chaoyang," he said. "The commander offered to stay and die with the last map—which shows the fighting spirit of our soldiers—but I did not want them to be out-flanked."

"My object is to retire and draw the Japanese on, thus lengthening their lines of communication."

"Naturally, as a patriotic Chinese, I hate to give up an inch of Chinese territory."

Is Pure Murder
"But as a soldier I know that it is better to choose a spot in which to fight than to have it forced upon me."

I asked how he thought his soldiers in the trenches were reacting to the Japanese aerial bombardment.

"Aerial bombardment of defenseless villages with women and children inhabitants in the rear of the lines was pure murder."

"As for the men in the trenches, they are used to it. They pay no attention but face to the front."

"I well know that the Japanese have superior weapons and equipment but my men demonstrate what flesh and blood can do."

Charges Denied
Approaching Tang's study, which was the audience hall of the former Imperial Palace in Chengteh, I found the Governor very hot under the collar.

He was indignant over aspersions cast upon him, charging that he had joined the Japanese with the creation of Manchukuo and then backed out. He ridiculed the recent Manchukuo announcement that he had been "dismissed" from the government.

"They had no power to appoint me so how could they dismiss me?" He asked. "Why should I join them? In fact, who would join the Japanese voluntarily?"

Church Services
I left Chengteh while the bells of the Catholic Mission were tolling early mass, reaching Lingyuan before night fall. I found Protestant missionaries still holding services unperturbed, although Lingyuan is now the main headquarters of the Chinese defense.

On the trip from Chengteh, I passed through principalities of the Kharaghin Mongols, who in the time of Marco Polo, were the guardians of the Chinese emperor's treasures and grain supplies.

On this frontier of different races, the fate of Asia now awaits a decision.

Here regular and volunteer Chinese troops face the dunes of Mongolia and the plains of Manchuria, prepared to resist the Japanese attack which has not yet come.

Perhaps the Japanese have learned that the "bandits" of Jehol was determined to sell their lives dearly.

Placards display the face of Sun Yat-Sen, the first president of China, who preached nationalism, and of Tang Yu Lin, who calls upon his countrymen to defend their nation to the death.

Shabbily Dressed
The troops milling about the city include Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang's disciplined battalions as well as frontiersmen in shaggy sheepskin coats and felt boots, looking like Eskimos on horseback as they ride superbly on their high wooden saddles, as did the hordes of old Genghis Khan.

The foreigners seem little concerned about the leaflets dropping from the skies warning them of danger. Although this is supposed to be an invasion by the armies of Manchukuo, the leaflets are signed by the commander-in-chief of the Kwantung army, which is the Japanese army of occupation.

Refuse To Leave
Foreign missionaries refuse to desert their converts and under the flags of the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France and Belgium, continue their ministrations.

When I saw this collection of flags I thought at first that a League of Nations commission must be in session. I hope that Japanese do not make the same mistake.

Lingyuan is a town of about 30,000 people. Although it is well built, with wide streets and many courtyards, most of the houses have thatched roofs. One well-placed bomb might result in a fire which would wipe Lingyuan off the map.

PILE SUFFERERS LIVE IN SHADOW OF THE KNIFE!

If you want to be rid of the torment of piles without an operation, throw away your laxative drugs. Generally it is abuse and neglect of your bowels that causes bleeding, itching, aching piles in the first place, and as long as you continue to irritate the delicate membranes with laxative you are living in the very shadow of the surgeon's knife.

Start Cream of Nujol treatment instead, stop the irritation, and take the first step toward the relief of pile suffering.

This new form of Nujol is specially suited to sufferers from piles. It soothes and heals the delicate bowel membranes and makes you as regular as clockwork without any interference with your work or play.

It is delicious to take, and will cost you only a few cents a day. Buy it at any drug counter.

Start the new harmless Cream of Nujol treatment at once. Give it a real test. Stop at your druggist's and get a bottle tonight.

far eastern controversy at some length.

He supported the Lytton report, which condemned Japan's activities in Manchuria and told commonsense the methods adopted by Japan were not in accordance with the league covenant.

Embargo On Both.
"It is perfectly natural," he added, "that a demand should arise for action to prevent sustaining, fostering and fomenting this conflict by a supply of arms."

"However, a little consideration will show that this can only be stopped effectively by international agreement."

Simon said that while Great Britain had better machinery than almost any other country to stop the arms traffic, due to her system of licensing exports, it was "impracticable for a single country, acting alone, to differentiate between two combatants."

Hence, he said, the embargo was directed against both China and Japan.

U. S. Officials Surprised.
Washington, Feb. 27.—American state department officials were surprised today at the news that the British government had decided to declare an embargo on the shipment of munitions to both China and Japan without the co-operation of other powers.

Great Britain's action came as such a surprise that officials at first doubted the dispatches and expressed the belief there must have been a misunderstanding of the announcement by Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, that such action would be taken.

Word of Great Britain's action was communicated first to state department officials by International News Service.

Officials said that the British government gave no indication to this nation that it intended to take such a drastic measure independently.

In the informal conversations that have taken place between this government and representatives of other nations, there has been a great deal of evidence that Europe would like to embargo arms shipments, but, officials here said, it was always emphasized that action could only be effective by joint international co-operation.

FAITH—

We want to say Amen to the article Mr. Murst had in the Sunday paper in regard to our foreign debts. It is easy to see that he does not have any foreign securities. If we had a few men at Washington that were in a position to take this same stand the foreign debt question would soon be settled and the American citizen in place of paying the other fellow's debts would pay our own nation's debts and be relieved of his burdensome taxes.

HAVE YOU THE UTMOST FAITH IN YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR.

FEW DAYS MORE—AND THEN?

In a few days a new president will be established in the white house. The interim following the November election has been one of uncertainty. Business has halted, awaiting developments. It has been utilized by Mr. Roosevelt for the formulation of policies, the selection of his cabinet and conversations with the ambassadors of Great Britain and France to the United States. There is no indication that he will depart from his announced intention of requiring substantial benefits in exchange for a revision downward of foreign debt payments.

If Great Britain actually nurtured the idea—this was publicly proclaimed by no less a personage than the Chancellor of the Exchequer—that the debt question must be definitely settled in Washington without relation to other matters, it has apparently been abandoned. Just after the 4th of March, British representatives will be here. If the newspapers have the correct information, debt will be subordinated to the grave problems that concern, not the United States and Great Britain individually, not the United States and France, not the United States and any debtor country, but the general welfare of the world.

The Washington conferences will be preliminary to the World Economic Conference. Reduction of armament is one question, and Norman H. Davis, who has been representing this country in the disarmament discussions, will continue to represent it under the Roosevelt administration. International rehabilitation is another question. Currencies must be stabilized. In naming William H. Woodin as his secretary of the Treasury and Senator Cordell Hull as his secretary of state, the incoming president drew about him two men upon whom he can rely to carry out his instructions. The duty will devolve upon Secretary Woodin to perform much detail work for the furtherance of the Roosevelt hope of entering upon negotiations for tariff reciprocity. Just how reciprocity can be brought about is not clear. But the Democratic party has written it into its platform and the president-elect apparently believes in it.

Mr. Roosevelt will find many perplexing problems on his hands.

The country has been promised a "new deal." It is waiting to see just what that means.

WEARING THE PANTS

If the women want to wear pants, why should the men complain? In a sense it is a compliment to man's sartorial taste, and it is nothing out of his pocket or wardrobe as long as the dear things buy their own trousers.

After all, this going in for man's pants is no innovation. Rather it is but the logical conclusion to a long story of feminine plagiarism. The ladies already have man's cigarettes, barber shops, shirts, ties, sports clothes and several other items out of his wardrobe, so why not his pants?

How long will they wear them after they have them? The first hot day will end the pants business. Moreover no woman ever got beyond the point of evident self-consciousness in the wearing of trousers. When she puts on the pants there is always a little smirk in the corner of her mouth and a bit of defiance in her eye. Along with these goes the suggestion of a swagger. Not even long acquaintance with beach pajamas, riding breeches and hiking knickers, not to mention tennis shorts, has put woman on such terms of familiarity with trousers as to make her unconscious of them on her own person. She knows well they don't belong to her.

Another thing. Don't forget that it is just such fads as this one that makes business for factories and stores and work for men and women. What this country needs is more and bigger fads.

FADS AND PROSPERITY

Dr. Julius Klein's somewhat fanciful suggestion that the rise of the jig-saw puzzle craze may herald the early return of prosperity is not altogether facetious.

It is at least a coincidence that the dissipation of previous depressions has seemed to accompany the development and rise to popularity of new types of amusement.

The bicycle, automobile and radio industries, whether by accident or not, sprang up in earlier business slumps, and are often credited with having furnished the new impetus that rescued general business from its doldrums.

The Mah Jong craze came during the darkest days of 1921, and enabled people to forget their financial troubles until those troubles were gone.

Manufacture of jig-saw puzzles became a $10,000,000 industry even in 1932. It is expected to be considerably larger this year.

Its volume has already attracted the attention of tax-gatherers, who hope to call it a sport and collect a 10 per cent tax on its products. The manufacturers, on the other hand, think it is only a toy, and consequently exempt from the tax on sporting goods.

Dr. Klein's theory, of course, does not explain the crossword puzzle, miniature golf, ping-pong and the yo-yo—some of which achieved popularity during prosperous years, while the others, rising out of depression, did not succeed in restoring business.—The Des Moines Tribune.

THE MIGHTY READER

You've heard, perhaps, about John Anderson and what happened to him. He writes about plays for the New York Journal, and the other day he received a letter from a man who said: "I enclose a key to my apartment; when you get this I shall be dead. I have killed myself with gas, so please tell the police to be careful."

The letter was true. The man was dead. He had killed himself with gas. He was a lonely stranger who had, he said, "no friends". He had never met John Anderson. Anderson had never seen him. . . . But he left a house and his possessions to John Anderson. And Anderson will never forget the shock of the thing that had happened to him. He is giving the house to the man's brother, but he cannot give away, cannot—even if he wished—shrink aside the mystery of that sudden gift out of nothingness.

John Anderson writes: "It is unreal; it is melodramatic; it may be even indecent for me to write about it this way, but it is a chastening thing somehow and heartening, too, to know thus tragically how thin this paper blows between us all and how closely it can lie against a pulse. . . . The thing I wish I knew—the thing, I suppose, every writer in the world wishes he knew—is what accounts for this. What had I written in the hundreds of columns for this paper that made this humble man who came here long ago as a young man from the hill towns of Italy; what I say, had I written to make him feel he had a friend? Was it that I once had talked to Duse, or written a piece from the Roman theater at Fiesole, that made him look back, before he took his life, to some gleaming memory of his homeland? . . . Had he felt that here, at least, behind the gray mask of newspaper, was someone who understood the things that he wanted to laugh at and weep over? Poor fellow!"

And writers, also, are "poor fellows." They sound so sure of themselves. They get "ideas" and expand them into articles. They type out those ideas, set down periods, semicolons, capital letters, pound out their phrases, hope that they are getting some truth into what they are writing. Wonder and wonder and wonder about the people "out there" who read—or don't read—who are affected by what is written for them—or are bored. . . . And people sit down, too, and write letters to writers. And sometimes a letter lifts a writer up and sometimes it humbles him more than you think. He's grateful, or he's made small. . . .

You've heard, perhaps, of the power of the printed word, of the power of writers. But they have none at all, believe me, compared with the power of the reader. This is shop talk, of course, but I thought you might care to know how people who write feel about people who read.

GIRLS IN THE CITY

Young girls who are anxious to leave home to be what they term "free" should give serious attention to why they so desire to get out from under the parental roof.

Do they wish to be free to work out their careers independently, or is it that they wish to do some things Mother and Dad would think discreet?

The metropolitan centers are overcrowded with capable and experienced girls for all sorts of jobs.

There are thousands whose homes are in these large centers and they can afford to work for less than girls who must pay for room and board among strangers.

Then going about seeking a job is expensive in a large city, a sum that might meet the few requirements in a village would not pay for very many days in a city while looking for a job.

Due to inexperience many girls have no conception of the difference in expense due to city environment. The girls are tired of small town life but they don't know when they are well off—they want to see the bright lights and many times, to their sorrow.

Girls should not forget that they will never find anyone who loves them in the way that parents do, wishing them wholly good, caring for them when ill, and full of love and sympathy for them when things go wrong.

GOING BACK

We called it going back, and filled with pride.

We thought that would be difficult to do.

Vain, foolish folks we were, who little knew

The peace and quiet of an ever-tide When we could sit and visit side by side.

And run, together, some loved volume through.

Old games we re-discovered, fresh and new.

And many a truth which we had long denied

We called it going back. That still is true.

We have gone back to happier simpler ways.

To little tasks that it is good to do. To calmer nights and sweeter holy days.

To home and all it shelters and to brew

Our own tea by our own fire's lovely blaze.

If a wise crack is so darned wise, why does it get itself stolen so often?

Everywhere we hear the cry that machines are throwing men out of work, but it has also been discovered that men can throw machines out of work. Smaller factories and more men working would suit us.

Americans are said to be sticking to their favorite toilet articles despite the depression. There are lots of women who would spend their last dime for a face cream rather than for a pork chop.

Hoover Valedictory Declared Prophetic Of Future Course

President's Statements Of Economic Requirements For World Recovery Are Echoed In All Parts Of The United States

While a retiring president ordinarily lacks the authority for charting a future course, notable attention has been given by the country to the New York address of President Hoover, which is called his valedictory in the White House. His condemnation of the policy of isolationists receives wide applause.

"If it were the speech of an incoming President," thinks the NEW YORK SUN, "its reverberations would continue for some time to be felt throughout the world." And that paper feels that "it commands itself to the consideration of thoughtful men at home and abroad, as being the pronouncement of one who enjoys the respect and confidence of a large number of the American people." The DAYTON DAILY NEWS declares: "Mr. Hoover has done a splendidly in calling his own followers back from the disastrous course of the last dozen years. The new President, it can hardly be doubted, will with force and vision strike forth in the new direction which the old President now takes. The people of the United States, we believe, are ready to follow on."

"It is our belief," states the CHICAGO JOURNAL OF COMMERCE, "that the coming administration will find these parting words of President Hoover fully aligned with its international policies. At no time in the nation's or the world's history has there been greater need for give and take to the mutual benefit in the future of all." The MILWAUKEE JOURNAL adds its approval with the statement: "We find Mr. Hoover, at the end of 12 years of his party in the national administration, defying the fears of international action so carefully nurtured through 12 years by his party—urging that the United States take the lead in such action, take it boldly, take it now to avoid disaster."

"No return to full prosperity is possible, the President pointed out, says the SAN JOSE MERCURY HERALD, "until international exchange is rescued from chaos. And this can be done only through international co-operation, the restorer of the gold standard and stabilizer of the gold standard based on it. There is an analogy between the President's address and Lincoln's second inaugural. Lincoln appealed to the people to unite in reconstructing what the Civil war had torn down. Hoover appealed to them to unite with other nations in reconstructing what the World War had torn down."

In both addresses is the conception that in co-operation lies the only hope of a stable social order." The OAKLAND TRIBUNE agrees that his address "is a call to a broad study of world conditions as they affect ourselves and other lands, and for a vision broad enough to meet the issues direct."

"The things he pointed out, in the opinion of the PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM "are largely correct and have been correct for 14 years." That paper also comments: "The speech was extraordinary in several respects, but one distinguishes it from the rest of the world's speech. It made mention of divers sins of omission due directly to Republican defeat of the Woodrow Wilson policies. If the Hoover speech were distilled it would be one of the best arguments available for Republican support of a Democratic Administration in 1933-34." The RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH holds that "removed from the imperative promptings of politics, he has given of himself to real statesmanship." The ASH REPUBLICAN, which concludes: "One may have no faith in the gold standard, nor in Mr. Hoover's old and social views, nor in his political and economic philosophy, yet this utterance is charged with both enlightenment and true patriotism—as was Lincoln's last great appeal 68 years ago, in his second inaugural, for a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations." The BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD as a party man, but was speaking to the American people as an American leader, and with a commendable degree of frankness. Whereas last Fall President Hoover spoke as one who saw only the problems of the United States, he spoke Monday night as one who sees the problems of the world with those of the United States in proper relationship to them. Mr. Hoover is to be congratulated on this address. It will have influence, although it comes rather late. It is only to be regretted that he did not long ago assume a leadership embodying its spirit and point of view."

"At the parting of the ways," suggests the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "he leaves the politicians and economic exclusiveness, and returns to the broad view of international problems and international readjustment." The BALTIMORE SUN offers the interpretation: "As things are, he leaves the stage, still deploring the mad rush of gold bullion, but shrinking from the clear means to end it; still renouncing trade barriers, but using depreciated currencies as the filthy pretext for the erection of another; still insisting upon the stabilization of currencies, but failing to see the benefit from depreciated currencies to foreign exports—that other countries may not regard stabilization with favor as a proper return for the conditional reduction of non-collectible debts."

FAST WORK
The prize diplomat has been discovered and, of course, it is a woman. For lightning thinking, this woman was a wiz.

It seems that a certain Mrs. Smith was a frightful bore—a terrible personality. She inflicted herself much upon the Jones family and Jones fled whenever he saw her coming. He saw her first one day coming up the garden path and retreated to his study, leaving his wife to her fate. Half an hour later, hearing a door shut, he went down and put his head inside the drawing room.

"Has the old crow gone?" he asked.

"Yes, dear," said his wife. "About an hour ago. And now, dear Mrs. Smith has called. Isn't it sweet of her?"

Warns Against Weakening Of School System

Dr. John K. Norton, Education Expert Would Not Cripple Schools

FIGHT SITUATION IN OTHER WAYS

In the following article Dr. John K. Norton, professor of education at Teachers' college, Columbia University, describes the dangers to which American democracy and institutions will be subjected should the nation's educational system be crippled for purposes of economy. Dr. Norton, one of scores of noted educators gathered here for the sixty-third annual convention of the department of superintendence of the National Education Association, is chairman of the association's joint commission on the emergency in education.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—The depression has swept away the income of many individuals, but a more important form of wealth is now threatened. This is the store of knowledge and intelligence which resides in the minds of the American people.

It has taken ages to create this wealth—to reach the place where men are able to govern themselves —to reach the place where democracy is a practical form of government.

Dangerous Practice.
And yet, there are those who would endanger this most important store of wealth. They would declare a moratorium on education because the depression makes it hard to pay for it. They would either close down or cripple the school—the institution which the forefathers declared to be necessary if our form of government was to endure, and which the common people have built up during more than a century of struggle.

This must not be permitted. One uneducated generation, and we are lost. Not less, but more of the right kind of education is what the present emergency calls for.

Duty Is Greater.
The depression has brought hardship and distress to many. Millions are out of work. The earnings of many others have been sharply reduced. The nation is in one of the critical periods of its history. What is the duty of teachers in such a period?

In such a time, it is the duty of teachers and all public servants to reduce public expenditures to the lowest possible cost consistent with the maintenance of essential services. This is being done by the schools. Non-essentials have been eliminated. Rigid economy is being practised. The size of classes has been increased. Salaries have been lowered.

But there are those who maintain that this is not enough. They would eliminate health service, free high schools, libraries, provisions for handicapped children, and other indispensable educational facilities.

Keep Up Morale.
These proposals cannot be accepted. The integrity of the public school must be maintained at any cost. This is of first importance if the morale of parents is to be maintained during this difficult period and if the children of the nation are to be prepared to meet the problems that lie ahead.

Certain selfish interests are devoting their money and energy to indiscriminate attacks upon public services of every kind. They strike at the schools, and at other honestly administered public enterprises. No matter how essential they may be. In these activities we have a true exhibition of tax blindness—in a most selfish and destructive form.

ILLUSION:
The Oriental girl reclines on a sheet of plate glass supported by two slaves. The magician waves a white sheet in front of the pretty maiden...pronounces a few magic words... Presto! She has disappeared in thin air.

EXPLANATION:
"Disappearing" acts are among the most popular in the repertoire of the magician. Dogs, horses, girls, whole rooms disappear—whisked into wings, dropped through trapdoors, hidden by mirrors. But this "disappearance" is a bit different. One of the "slaves" is a hollow dummy. When the magician holds up the sheet the little lady disappears completely—into the convenient figure of the dummy.

It's FUN TO BE FOOLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

There is also a trick of cigarette advertising, whereby a few magic words are used to create the illusion of "Coolness." EXPLANATION: Coolness is determined by the speed of burning. Fresh cigarettes, retaining their full moisture, burn more slowly...smoke cooler. Parched, dry cigarettes burn fast. They taste hot. This makes the method of wrapping very important.

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Feb. 27.—Henry Ford with the power of his millions, came today to the aid of Michigan's beleaguered banks.
He will become owner and controller of Detroit's two largest banks, which will be established to supplant present institutions. And he served notice that he intends to run the new banks according to his own "revolutionary" ideas of banking.
The motor magnate broke the news last night as Michigan was entering its third week virtually without banking facilities. Governor William A. C. Comstock closed the state's financial institutions Feb. 14, ordering an eight day holiday. Draconic restrictions in withdrawals had been in effect all last week.

Counterfeiters Reported Here

Police Warn Merchants To Be On Lookout For Phony Five Dollar Bills

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 27.—Police today extended a warning to the Ellwood City merchants and to the public in general to be on the lookout for counterfeiters operating in this city and vicinity.

Sunday evening six local merchants were "stung" with phony five dollar bills. In each instance where the money was distributed, the case was worked the same way. A neat looking man would come in and make a small purchase and hand one of the counterfeit five dollar bills for payment for which he would receive change. It was reported that in a few places the merchants seemed to recognize some defect and would not accept the bill for payment.

The counterfeit five dollar bill as a whole is a poor job. The picture of Abraham Lincoln is rather blurred and his eyes will not compare with the real picture. The bill is of a lighter shade than the real currency.

Local police have a description of the counterfeiters and are keeping a sharp lookout for them.

Mrs. Roeloff Dies At Home Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Harriet B. Roeloff, aged 70, wife of S. A. Roeloff, passed away at her home at 626 Park avenue Saturday afternoon about 4:20, after a brief illness.

The child sacrificed the fingers to rescue her five-year-old sister from death under the wheels of a freight train.

Betty's sister had crawled beneath one of the cars of the train as it started to move. Betty scrambled under the car and pushed her sister to safety.

Before Betty could crawl to safety herself the wheels passed over seven fingers.

Student Debaters Heard By Rotary

Allegheny Forensic Men Guests — Club Hears Arguments On Big Incomes

Two youthful Allegheny college debaters came here today to defend, in scholarly, fashion, the negative and affirmative sides of the timely question: "Resolved, That no person should be allowed to inherit or earn more than $50,000 a year."

William Unverzagt, a junior, and John Corcoran a sophomore, active in Allegheny's debating circles, were the speakers. Unverzagt took the affirmative side while Corcoran spoke for the negative.

While the Rotarians listened, Mr. Unverzagt recited his belief that the many benefits which would come today make it imperative that the nation adopt those proposals. And in response, his worthy opponent brought out in his speech that 81 per cent of America's two billion dollar income tax revenue today is paid by men receiving more than $50,000 a year. They argued it pro and con, but there was no final judgment.

(International News Service)

Although the tax, in existence since last September, ends tomorrow, the law provides that taxpayers must retain records until April 1, 1935, in order to provide data for investigations that may be necessary.

Taxpayers will be aided in making out reports by department representatives stationed at the various large cities and county seats throughout the state beginning Wednesday.

(International News Service)

Knights Of Columbus Have Public Communion

St. Mary's Council, No. 512, Knights of Columbus, on Sunday morning observed its annual public communion and breakfast with nearly 100 members participating. The participants gathered at the Knights of Columbus Home on North Jefferson streets shortly before eight o'clock and marched in a body to St. Joseph's church, where they attended mass and received communion, with Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Doerr, pastor of the church, officiating.

Following the service the entire group returned to the Knights of Columbus Home, where the first degree was conferred on a large class of candidates. The annual breakfast followed, being served by a group of ladies from St. Mary's parish.

The breakfast was followed by a program of addresses arranged by Lecturer Thomas Cunningham and his committee.

Planagan Presides
Thomas Planagan, grand knight of St. Mary's Council, presided throughout. Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, chaplain of the council, pronounced the blessing.

Grand Knight Planagan expressed his appreciation of the splendid turnout. He called attention to the fact that order is in the midst of a membership campaign. The officers of the council, he stated, had gone over a hundred per cent in the preliminary nationwide campaign held last month, every officer getting one new member. He asked the rank and file of the membership to follow this leadership.

Patsy Colucci, a member of the class receiving the first degree earlier in the morning, spoke briefly.

Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, assistant pastor of St. Mary's parish, and chaplain of St. Mary's Council No. 512, Knights of Columbus, was the next speaker. He said that they were a body of Catholics bound together in a Catholic organization and that should they inculcate and practice the lessons learned in the order, there was no doubt but that they would be looked upon as high-class, that they would not only be true to their religion and their order, but would set an example that would be good for others to follow.

Peter P. Capitolo, district deputy for the fourth Pennsylvania district, Knights of Columbus, of which St. Mary's Council is a part, called attention to the joint meeting of five districts at Oil City next Sunday, when Assistant District Attorney John P. Conley of Philadelphia will be the principal speaker.

Hanon on Program
B. N. Hanon, state secretary of the Knights of Columbus, spoke briefly, stating "An organization only amounts to what you make use of it. Whatever you put into it, you will get out of it. If there was ever a time that the country needed the Knights of Columbus, it is now. All should get out and help increase its membership and its influence for good."

Stephen A. Boyle, honorary life member, was asked to stand up and was accorded a very pleasing demonstration, due to the fact that he is one of the few persons holding such a place in the order.

John J. Maher, past grand knight of St. Mary's Council, and also a former district deputy, made the final address of the occasion.

Maher Speaks
He spoke concerning conditions as they exist today and urged the very evident need of confidence to restore conditions to normal.

He said, among other things: "We are not yet around the corner in our depression, and whatever affects this nation for good or ill is felt throughout all nations of the world. Confidence is needed. Because this confidence was dimmed in the past few years, then things began to happen and we have the depression. When confidence is again restored, things will again begin to happen, but it will be for the good of all."

Darkest Before Dawn
"It is always darkest before dawn. There has surely been a darkness for many months past. It may be that the new national administration foreshadows the dawn of brighter days, as was evidenced in confidence expressed in it last November."

"It has been characteristic of previous depressions, when they are nearing a close, that new enterprises arise before the wreckage of the depression has been cleared away. There are some present indications that this is the case, but there are many disconcerting things appearing as factors in the present day situation, which sometimes overshadow the more hopeful things we would seek."

The affair was brought to a close with benediction by the order of Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, and the singing of Holy God by the entire group under the leadership of Lecturer Thomas Cunningham.

The ladies and others responsible for the successful event are as follows: Mrs. James H. Eagan, chair-lady; Mrs. Leo Whalen, Mrs. J. McKay, Mrs. P. McNichols, Mrs. J. T. Griffith, Mrs. Steve Griffith, Mrs. Thomas Donegan, Mrs. Mary Cosgrove, Mr. and Mrs. G. Swords and the Misses Ruth Boyle, Edna Eckelberger, Mary Maher, Helen Whalen, Helen Capitolo, Cecelia Daugherty, Kathryn Hanon and Anna Gertrude Eagan.

White To Attend Rate Conferences

Council Authorizes City Solicitor To Attend All District Meetings

Council today passed Councilman Louis Genkinger's motion authorizing Solicitor White to attend all meetings of the organization formed recently for the purpose of trying to secure lower rates from the Manufacturers Light & Heat company. A meeting will be held Wednesday at Pittsburgh. White is a member of the executive committee. When council convened in city hall, the solicitor addressed the body and inquired if the council wanted him to attend the meetings.

The mayor said that "whenever there is a meeting we will expect you to meet with him. We're interested and this fight should be pushed along to an end, one way or the other."

Councilman Genkinger presented a motion to the effect that White should attend all meetings. He will not have to await council's sanction for him to attend in the future. The motion passed.

"Are we going to join the Fair Rate Association?" Treser asked. "There are a few cities of the Third Class which belong to the association," said Mayor. "The Third Class cities have asked the association for support in certain matters."

"It seems to me that there is a disposition on the part of both bodies to get together," Solicitor White declared.

"My thought in asking the question," said Treser, "is that they have some good ideas and we should encourage them."

"I've talked to our representatives in the senate and house about these things," Mayor Mayne stated.

Circulation Of Library Books Shows Big Gain

Circulation Of 9.7 Per Book Is Recorded During Past Year, Report Shows

COST PER CAPITA IS LOW FIGURE

Books in the New Castle free public library collection had a turnover of 9.7 during the year 1932, the annual report of Miss Alice Sterling, submitted to the board this month, shows. In other words, each book had an average circulation of almost 10 times, the total circulation of the 35,740 volumes being 347,600, a new high figure, 15 per cent greater than in 1931 and 74 per cent higher than it was in 1929.

The total number of borrowers was 14,784, which means that one out of every 3.3 persons in the city have library cards and were borrowers of books last year. In addition to the many who borrowed books, the reading room attendance during the year, by careful estimate, was 35,656, many of whom read books in the library without taking them outside.

The library service was maintained at an average cost per capita of 53 cents, while the cost per circulation of books was 774 cents. The circulation per capita of population was 7.1, or in other words, each person residing within the city borrowed seven books during the year. The circulation per borrower was much higher, the average being 23.5 books per person. It will thus be seen that some people were avid readers.

The total cost of the library last year was $26,299.14, of which $23,246.63 was raised by taxation and the balance through rental of books, fines, donations, etc. Salaries amounted to $13,599, the biggest item in the budget, while the cost of books amounted to $6,589.45.

Opposes Ending Utilities Probe

Warren Van Dyke, State Democratic Chairman Says Senate Cannot Back Down

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Express opposition to any discontinuance of the senate's probe of the public service commission and the utilities came today from Warren Van Dyke, chairman of the Democratic state committee.

"The general assembly cannot afford to back down at this time on the investigation... regardless of what Dr. Clyde L. King, chairman of the commission says," declared Van Dyke in a statement. He added his belief that Democratic legislators would vote to reappropriate the sum of $100,000 to finance the inquiry. The senate committee plans to recall Dr. King this week for further questioning. At the hearing last week the commission chairman said in effect that it was futile to investigate any more as far as proposed legislation is concerned. It is expected his testimony this week will include an interpretation of remarks he made previously at the committee hearing.

OTHER ADDRESSES ARE SCHEDULED

As the main speaker for the Community Fathers and Sons banquet which will be held in the Cathedral dining room Thursday night, March 2, Professor L. H. Professor Beelor is a speaker of ability and his presence guarantees an interesting address, suitable to the occasion.

The committee has also arranged a program of entertainment which is not long, but long enough to fill out the time allotted to it. Paul A. Welsh, well known baritone soloist will present several numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Welsh, and W. O. "Red" Williams will direct the pep singing. Mr. Williams will also sing several numbers. For orchestral music, Joe E. Replogle, director of the Senior High school orchestra, has promised a ten piece orchestra composed of high school musicians. The banquet starts at 6:30 o'clock and the price has been placed at the low level it is in order to attract a crowd. Tickets are on sale and can be secured from any member of the Phalanx or from members of the committees in charge.

BIG PROBLEMS BEFORE STATE LEGISLATURE

Important Week Before Session

Prohibition Repeal And Blue Law Modification Measures Are Up

CONVENTION PLAN MEETS OPPOSITION

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Legislators returned to Harrisburg today with the problems of prohibition repeal and blue law modification still reared in the foreground.

Organization leaders, it is understood, plan to clear up these questions as far as possible this week so the Assembly may give undivided attention to unemployment relief, economy bills, and the commonwealth's budget generally.

Immediately demanding action is legislation providing for a constitutional convention to act upon the congressional repeal resolution. Thus far, Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, has introduced the only bill making provisions for the convention machinery.

The decision made at Washington to place the fate of prohibition squarely up to the states has removed the cause for hesitancy in the Assembly and it is expected the McClure Bill now will have to vie for survival with other measures calling for a set-up of delegates to the convention.

While prohibitionists have not been outspoken and have not submitted their own convention plan, it is accepted that they will oppose the McClure proposal as it now stands. The fact that it has the support of the association against the prohibition amendments points in itself to opposition from the drys.

Senator McClure's measure, now in the Law and Order Committee of the upper branch, calls for a convention of 67 delegates, one to be elected from each of the 34 congressional districts and 33 to be elected at large.

To Be Opposed
Supporters of this method contend it will give the fairest and best indication of Pennsylvania's temper on the prohibition question. That

THE LOAN PLAN PREFERRED

by a third of a million families

Such overwhelming preference must be deserved.

Doesn't it stand to reason that the Household Loan Plan must offer more in COURTESY, CONVENIENCE, ECONOMY, AND SATISFACTION?

If you need $300 or less for any good purpose, why not get the advantages of dealing with America's foremost family finance organization.

You can establish credit at Household* for $300 or less in cash if you are married, keeping house, and can make small repayments each month. No outside signers, bankable securities, or investigations will be required.

temper they believe is decidedly wet. If legislative districts should become the unit of representation, every rural county will be assured of at least one vote in the convention and together these ballots would pile up against ratification of the national repeal measure. Wets will oppose such a proposal.

Although Republican organization leaders have made it plain that the Conner-Sowers bill repealing the state dry act will be held up until liquor control legislation is ready to travel hand in hand with it, reports were current today that the Senate may make an anti-prohibition gesture by taking the repealer out of committee and giving it two readings. It would be held then on the postponed calendar until the liquor control bill reaches the third reading stage in the Senate.

The condition in which the Schwartz Sunday Sports bill will emerge from the Senate Law and Order Committee, or when it will emerge, remains uncertain. Meanwhile, a House Committee has decided to bring out for action another blue law modifier more liberal than the Schwartz bill.

Huge Verdict To Be Appealed

(International News Service)
BROOKVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—Motion to appeal an $85,000 personal injury verdict to be prepared today by attorneys for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company here.

The verdict, the largest personal injury judgment ever handed down by Pennsylvania courts, was awarded Alexander Morando, Woodsman, for personal injuries.

Morando was injured in June, 1931, when the car in which he was riding was struck by another driven by C. A. Weisman, agent for the A. & P. Company.

Important Decision On Auto Traffic In State Is Rendered

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Dauphin county court Saturday handed down a decision in a test case affecting traffic regulations throughout Pennsylvania.

Court ruled that city and borough traffic ordinances are invalid unless signs are posted at street intersections advising of the regulations within the area affected.

The ruling was made on the appeal of J. J. Moore, of Harrisburg, from a fine of $10 and costs imposed by Alderman G. K. Richards for parking an automobile in a local street more than six inches from the curb.

Admits Violations
While admitting the machine was parked in violation of the city ordinance which prohibits parking more than six inches from the curb, Carl B. Stoner, counsel for Moore, contended that a municipal ordinance which violates a state statute is no ordinance at all.

Court upheld Stoner in this and reversed the decision of the alderman. The opinion said:

"We are clearly of the opinion that this ordinance cannot be enforced in the absence of an appropriate sign giving notice thereof posted conspicuously by the city at points where any highway affected joins the other highways."

Suggests Attention
While the decision was in a case involving the distance of parking from a curb, the wording makes it applicable to other municipal ordinances such as those covering double parking, parking at night, and similar regulations when notices at intersections are not posted.

The opinion added, "The court, however, takes cognizance of the fact that posting notices at each street intersection would entail tremendous expense to cities of the third class and boroughs. It suggests that the attention of the legislature be called to the condition and that the motor code be amended to provide that automobiles must be parked within six inches from the curb."

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

NO. 24

DEDUCTION FOR DEPRECIATION
The revenue act provides for "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." For convenience, such allowance usually is referred to as depreciation.

In claiming a deduction for depreciation several fundamental principles must be observed. The deduction must be confined to property actually used in trade, business, profession, and to improvements on real property, other than property used by the taxpayer as his personal residence. In general, it applies to the taxpayer's capital assets—buildings, machinery, etc.—the cost of which can not be deducted as a business expense.

A lawyer, doctor, or other professional man may not charge off as a current expense the cost of a library used wholly in his profession, this being capital expenditure and the library a capital asset, but he may deduct an allowance for depreciation based upon the useful life of the library. If part of a professional man's residence is used by him for office purposes, a proportionate amount of the depreciation sustained may be deducted, based generally on the ratio of the number of rooms used for such purposes to the total number of rooms in the building. The same principle applies if a taxpayer rents to others a portion of his residence. Under such conditions, however, the taxpayer must include in his gross income the rentals received.

Lewis Is Granted Annealing Patent

New Castle Man Gets Award After Wait Of Two And Half Years

By ARTHUR C. WIMMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—Lester L. Lewis of New Castle has been granted a patent on an annealing art of his own design, the United States patent office announces.

Mr. Lewis applied for the patent rights Sept. 3, 1930, and waited two and one-half years for recognition. He has been allowed protection on four novel features of his invention and has assigned two-thirds of his rights to the Blair Strip Steel company.

The patent office describes the invention as:

The art of bright annealing metal work, comprising raising the work to annealing temperature in a container and maintaining the work at such temperature for a sufficient period for annealing, exhausting fumes from the container during the heating and maintenance of the heated condition of the work, sealing the work with a commingled seal, gas treating the seal for preserving the container against access by discoloration-producing agents, and cooling the work while maintained thus sealed.

tee on Finance was to meet today to discuss proposed economy legislation.

Pinchot Will Certify Davis

Governor May Forward Certificate Of Election Of Davis To Senate This Week

WITHOUT ADVERSE QUALIFICATIONS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 27.—Though official confirmation was lacking, Capitol Hill circles today heard reports that Gov. Gifford Pinchot this week will forward to Washington a certificate of election for Senator James J. Davis. The certificate, moreover, will be without adverse qualifications, it is understood.

The governor already is on record as expressing the belief that the senate will not seat Davis. In view of that it is believed Pinchot will not make the gesture of attempting to influence the senate's action as he did in the case of William S. Vare, to whom he gave a "certificate of doubt," charging that the election was "partly bought and partly stolen."

Senator Davis was scheduled to go on trial in the federal courts of New York today on charges of violating the lottery laws. Political observers felt that the trial would tend to remove possibility of a "certificate of doubt" inasmuch as it might become the basis of a move for mistrial in Davis' case, defense counsel contending it prejudiced the jury.

Man Arrested On Suspicion

State police authorities advised the city police that a large man, apparently of Polish nationality, was headed toward the city from the Highland Heights district and was wanted by them. He had previously been put out of the Earl garage at Highland Heights.

Officers detailed apprehended John Zajac, who answered the description and it was found that his truck was in the hollow beyond the end of Highland avenue, where it had been driven off the road. Zajac was turned over to the state police for investigation, but was later released by them.

Corbett Likes Being Champion

Newly Crowned Welterweight Champion Hopes To Keep Busy In Ring

OFFERS TO MEET FIELDS AGAIN

"How does it feel to be a champion and what are your plans?" That double question, hurled at Young Corbett many times each day since he won the world's welterweight title Wednesday from Jackie Fields, is answered herewith by Corbett himself—Editor's note.

By YOUNG CORBETT, III
World's Welterweight Champion
(Written Expressly for International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—It's great to be a champion and I expect to be a busy one.

Of course I'm tired right now from the long training grind for the Fields fight and the nervous strain attendant upon it, but as soon as I rest up I'll be ready to fight anybody at any place.

Today I'm going back to my home in Fresno, Cal., and just loaf around awhile with my friends and family. I have a wife and two children, you know.

Depends On Managers
The making of my matches and all business arrangements I leave to my managers, Ralph Manfredo and Larry White. I think a fighter's business is to fight, while his managers should attend to everything else.

I have perfect confidence in my managers. They tell me where and when I'm to do battle and that's all I ask of them. I do the rest, and don't want to be bothered with details of the business end of my matches.

White and Manfredo tell me they have no plans at all for me at present. We'll just sit back and rest on our oars and see what's offered us.

I Fields wants another shot at the title he can have it, any time, any place suitable arrangements can be made. That goes for all the other welterweights. I want to be a busy champion. I'm willing to fight just as often as I'm physically able.

Evans City high school will be the opponents of the Shenango township high school Tuesday night on the Shenango floor. In addition to this game there will be two others, one between the eighth and ninth grades and a return game between the faculty men and a picked team from the school.

On last Friday night the faculty lost a close one to the picked team, the score being 21-19. They believe that with this practice game under their belt, or suspenders, they can take the picked team in a second game.

The other games on Friday night resulted in Shenango varsity defeating Slippery Rock high school 38-17 and the girls' team defeated the girls of the New Castle senior high school 40-13.

The games start Tuesday night at 7:30.

Tony Makes Good In First Eastern Debut

(International News Service)

"Go west, young man, go west," advised Horace Greeley. Many did and found success. Ray Alvis pointed out a different route. In fact he told his pugilistic proteges "Go east, young men, go east."

One of 'em, Tony Herrera, practically unknown east of Chicago, did and in his first eastern fight, which occurred here, May 6, 1929, he started to ride the rode to fistic fame and a fat bankroll.

Ray asked that Tony, whom he dubbed the Mexican tornado, receive a chance to strut his fistic stuff here and Ray Newton, at that time regarded as a good junior lightweight, was picked as his foe.

Some fans believed that the rugged, hard-socking Newton would prove too much for the Mexican who stood forth like a stringbean. Things however, turned out different when the bell sounded.

Herrera Makes Good.
Instead of Ray chasing and punching Herrera, Tony chased and punched Newton and after inflicting a severe body beating Ray was distressed when he made his weary way to his corner.

After fiddling Newton around for a time in the fifth chapter the

Make Rum Raids At Youngstown

(International News Service)

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 27.—Sheriff W. J. Engelhardt at noon Sunday made his first raids in downtown Youngstown since a year ago last night when he was head of the city vice squad. He also invaded Campbell, a suburban mill town.

The raids followed a surprise visit of prohibition agents in this section last Friday.

The sheriff raided a spaghetti house at 34 North Chestnut street, just off Federal street, and confiscated a large amount of whisky, gin and beer, he reported.

He also raided another bar on Wood street, on the edge of the business section. At a third resort, he warned the proprietor he had better close, or expect visits every 15 minutes.

Engelhardt arrested Joe Velvet, 54, and Joe Ross, 23, on charges of possessing liquor.

More than 250 gallons of liquor secreted in a huge copper vat were seized by Engelhardt and Police Chief Frank Cunningham of Campbell in a raid on a Campbell liquor "warehouse" at 130 Twelfth street, believed to have been an important source of supply of bonded liquor.

County deputies also swooped down on a place at 855 Albert street, here, confiscated quantities of liquor, wine and beer, and arrested Alfred Parker, 24, of the same address, on a possession charge.

The sheriff's raids followed the arrest of Michael Scott, by city police, as a result of the seizure of 250 gallons of bonded liquor in his home in the exclusive Cranford park district of the North Side. The raiders got 650 gallons of liquor in the same home February 1 and Scott was fined $300 and costs. Police suspect that the home is being used as a distributing point for liquor made in Sharon and Farrell, Pa.

Sorority Pledging, Lectures, And Mothers' Day This Week At Westminster

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 27.—A week full of varied activities awaits Westminster college students, a study of the calendar shows.
Sorority pledging season, climaxed by delightful parties held for freshmen women by the seven sororities on the campus, took place last week. "Silent period" started yesterday, continues throughout today, and pledging will take place Tuesday at noon. Professor Ben E. Ewema, head of the English department and referee of the rushing season, announces. Approximately 70 freshmen women will be pledged by the seven groups.
The varsity basketball team left today for a four-day invasion of the East, where St. Thomas, Long Island Coaches, John Marshall, and St. Johns will be played.

Congressmen Oppose Measure To Allow More Precipitations

By ARTHUR C. WIMBER
Special Washington Correspondent Of THE NEWS
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—Representatives Swick of Beaver Falls, Cochran, of Mercer, and Temple, of Washington, all opposed the bill passed by the House Saturday to remove from the present law the statutes limiting the amount of medicinal liquor which may be prescribed by physicians.
The measure was approved by the House by a 168 to 160 ballot. It now goes to the Senate for action and its sponsors hope to have it approved before adjournment next Saturday.
The bill was approved by the American Medical society, embracing many thousands of physicians. Dr. Swick, however, opposed it.

Announce Changes Is Postal Service

David B. Thomas Becomes New Mails Superintendent; Reno Leaves

Postmaster Lake S. MacNab today announced the appointment of David B. Thomas as superintendent of mails at the New Castle postoffice effective Wednesday, March 1. For nearly 27 years Thomas, selected from the clerical division, has been in the postal department employ. He began service here as a special delivery messenger.
At the same time Thomas' promotion was made known, Postmaster MacNab announced that Doelbor N. Reno, for years a night dispatch clerk here, has become the carrier for Wampum's rural delivery route. Reno commenced his local service on Saturday night.
Postal authorities said Reno's position here cannot be filled under the provisions of recent economy legislation by congress.
Economy makes progress. In our poorest state the legislators who pay themselves $400 for 40 days have cut school teachers to $400 a year.

FOOT IRRITATION HEALED AS IF BY MAGIC

"I suffered for a long time with perspiring and cracked feet—often called 'athlete's foot'—and all the treatments I tried brought no relief. We keep Resinol on hand, having used it with wonderful results for boils, burns, etc., and one night I decided to try it for my feet. The next morning, as if by magic, the cracks seemed to be healing. For a week I continued the treatment and the cracks completely healed and there was no sign of perspiration." (Signed) Ray E. Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Of Man Jim seemed to be laying for Brinley Hughes, local man who has a business in Beaver Falls. Just waiting for the opportunity apparently, and the opportunity presented itself over the week end.
Mr. Hughes was driving home from Beaver Falls when a car coming towards him got out of control. Into a tail spin and a series of convolutions followed, ending with the car crashing into Hughes and putting both cars out of commission.

The owners of the cars started to walk back to Koppel for aid when as they were walking along, a weird driver came along, hit them and rolled them into the ditch.

Which brings up the fact that tomorrow is the last day you can drive on your present driver's license. Midnight on the 28th and the new licenses go into effect. And don't think the patrol won't be checking.

Another idea is to carry your owner's license card with you. Recently the patrol has been checking cars for owners' licenses and it is surprising how many people leave them at home.

If they're going to repeal all the laws against liquor, they ought to make new ones and make them in time, to make it a felony, maximum penalty, for quartets who insist on singing sweet adeline.

Here's one that really should go into "Thumbprints" but it's too long. Back before the turn of the century, J. K. McQuiddy, who has charge of the work done by the Mayor's Relief squads, got his start in Cripple Creek, Colorado.

He chased pack teams up the side of Pike's Peak for a living, carrying supplies for miners who were seeking their fortune in gold up on the mountain side. On the Cripple Creek newspaper was a young man with whom McQuiddy formed an acquaintance, a lad named Lowell Thomas. Perhaps you've heard of him.

McQuiddy's job was to get those stubborn mountain canaries up the hill with the supplies, Thomas' job was to get the news for the Cripple Creek newspaper. Both of them used to wonder what they would be doing years later. They separated. McQuiddy came east and Thomas drifted to other fields, and kept his drifting up over the queer parts of the earth.

New Castle had a representative among the spectators who saw Sir Malcolm Campbell break his own record at Daytona Beach several days ago. William J. Davis, a former business man, who now resides in Florida most of the year, was on the beach at Daytona and saw the Britisher whiz by.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27.—Discovery of 20 feet of blasting fuse in the charred ruins of one of three two-story homes which were wrecked in suburban Clairton yesterday by explosion and fire today brought an investigation into what fire marshals believe was an arson plot.
Members of four families, including 11 children, were left homeless by the blast and fire. Damage was estimated at $20,000. No one was hurt.
Investigators worked on the theory that an inflammable liquid had been ignited by the fuse, setting off the blast.

J. N. Cochran of 524 East Winter avenue, has been charged by Chief of Police John F. Haven with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor at the court of Alderman Wallace J. Ewing as a result of an accident early Sunday morning on East Washington street, in which Mrs. Lee F. Davids, one of the occupants of the other car, sustained a severe cut on the head.
The accident occurred shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Lee F. Davids of 206 Euclid avenue, accompanied by his wife, was en route west on East Washington street near 1207 that street, as Cochran was en route east at the same point.
Cochran, according to Mr. Davids, was traveling at a high rate of speed and suddenly his machine skidded into the curb and a pole near Lathrop street, and as Mr. Cochran attempted to straighten up the course of his machine it skidded over into the west bound street car track, striking Mr. Davids' car. He had stopped his car as he saw what was happening.
Mrs. Davids was injured and had to be given attention, while Mr. Cochran was taken into custody, examined and later the charge was made against him.
